This technical drawing is an exploded view of a mechanical assembly, showing various components and their relative positions. The parts are numbered 1 through 31. The main assembly consists of a large rectangular housing (1) with a front panel (2) and a base (3). A central shaft (4) passes through the housing, with a pulley (5) mounted on it. A belt (6) is shown driving the pulley. A motor (7) is connected to the shaft. A gear (8) is mounted on the shaft, and a smaller gear (9) is shown meshing with it. A bracket (10) is attached to the side of the housing. A handle (11) is shown in the exploded position. A screw (12) is shown passing through the handle into the housing. A nut (13) is shown on the end of the handle. A washer (14) is shown between the handle and the housing. A pin (15) is shown passing through the handle and the housing. A spring (16) is shown between the handle and the housing. A bush (17) is shown on the shaft. A seal (18) is shown on the shaft. A gasket (19) is shown between the housing and the base. A screw (20) is shown passing through the base into the housing. A nut (21) is shown on the end of the screw. A washer (22) is shown between the base and the housing. A pin (23) is shown passing through the base and the housing. A spring (24) is shown between the base and the housing. A bush (25) is shown on the shaft. A seal (26) is shown on the shaft. A gasket (27) is shown between the housing and the base. A screw (28) is shown passing through the base into the housing. A nut (29) is shown on the end of the screw. A washer (30) is shown between the base and the housing. A pin (31) is shown passing through the base and the housing.
